In an ever-evolving world marked by migration and displacement, the voices of youth refugee and migrant take on profound significance. These young individuals find themselves navigating unfamiliar environments, and their experiences hold the key to understanding their unique journeys and the formulation of effective social and educational integration systems. This demographic plays a pivotal role in shaping our understanding of the challenges they face and the opportunities that can pave the way for their inclusion and well-being.

In our ongoing mission to empower youth migrants and refugees, we're delighted to share the remarkable progress of our project, which aims to foster their active participation in policy development. Our dedication is centered on establishing consultative bodies at local and EU levels, in collaboration with public authorities.

Through a multi-stakeholder approach involving partners such as NGOs, universities, municipalities, and governmental bodies, our goal is to empower young migrants to co-create policies that cater to their unique needs, making significant strides towards a more inclusive and equitable future.

One of the cornerstones of our project has been the establishment of consultative bodies at the local level in each participating country. These bodies serve as vital platforms where young migrants and refugees come together to discuss their collective challenges and concerns. Through regular meetings, they not only identify issues but also collaborate on innovative solutions. These dialogues empower them to be proactive agents of change in their communities, ensuring their voices are heard and their needs addressed. It's a powerful testament to the impact of local engagement in shaping policies that truly reflect the realities and aspirations of youth migrants and refugees.

In the spirit of innovation and empowerment, we recently hosted a Hackathon, a dynamic event where programmers and young minds converge to collaborate on projects. The aim? To empower our target group by harnessing technology and creativity. Organized by TIA FORMAZIONE in cooperation with all the partners of the project, the Hackathon was a resounding success. Team FUTURE US emerged as the winners of the CEUTH Hackathon, showcasing their Stay EngagEd idea. Their groundbreaking work focuses on developing a policy framework that empowers youth migrants and refugees to actively participate in political life. This policy emphasizes the need for meaningful involvement in decision-making processes, ensuring that their voices resonate in shaping the policies that impact their lives. The You(th) for the Future Hackathon is a significant step in our ongoing mission to secure a voice and an active role for migrants in policy development.

As we look ahead, December 5, 2023, marks a significant date in our project timeline. It's the final event in Brussels and the last transnational meeting of our collaborating partners. At this event, we will proudly present all the deliverables that have been developed throughout this journey. These deliverables represent our collective commitment to fostering meaningful change in the lives of youth migrants and refugees. It's an opportunity to celebrate the dedication and hard work that have gone into shaping policies, establishing consultative bodies, and embracing innovation.

In conclusion, our project is a testament to the power of collaboration, innovation, and inclusivity. Together, we are working towards a future where the voices of youth migrants and refugees are not only heard but also actively shape the policies that affect them. As we move forward, we invite you to join us on this remarkable journey of empowerment and change. Together, we can build a more inclusive and equitable world for all.
